1729

\[ 1729 = 1^3 + 12^3 = 9^3 + 10^3 = 7 \times 13 \times 19 \]

1,729 is the smallest number which can be represented in two different ways as the sum of two cubes:

\[ 1729 = 1^3 + 12^3 = 9^3 + 10^3 \]

It is also incidentally the product of 3 prime numbers:

\[ 1729 = 7 \times 13 \times 19 \]

The largest known similar number is:

\[ 885623890831 = 7511^3 + 7730^3 = 8759^3 + 5978^3 = 3943 \times 14737 \times 15241 \]

\[ 1 + 9 \left( \frac{1}{4} \right)^4 + 17 \left( \frac{1 \times 5}{4 \times 8} \right)^4 + 25 \left( \frac{1 \times 5 \times 9}{4 \times 8 \times 12} \right)^4 + \cdots = \frac{2^{\frac{3}{2}}}{\pi^{\frac{3}{2}} \Gamma^2 \left( \frac{3}{4} \right)} \]

Cpl Dip Prasad Pun was Awarded Gallantry Cross.

Talibans – They call themselves Champions of Islam.

Ross McGuinness

GURKHA soldier who single-handedly defeated more than 30 Taliban fighters has been awarded a Conspicuous Gallantry Cross by the Queen.

Cpl Dipprasad Pun was awarded the medal, second only to the Victoria Cross, at an investiture ceremony at Buckingham Palace yesterday.

"I will not forget this," he said afterwards, the 31-year-old said. "It will be a great memory for the future."

Cpl Pun fired more than 400 rounds, launched 17 grenades and detonated a mine to thwart the Taliban assault on his checkpoint near Babaji in Helmand Province, southern Afghanistan, last September.

At one point, after exhausting all ammunition, Cpl Pun, from 1st Battalion The Royal Gurkha Rifles, pulled the trigger of his machine gun to scare away a militant who was behind the walls of the compound. Speaking about his bravery, Cpl Pun said: "I thought I was going to die so I thought kill as many of them as I could before they killed me."

He was joined yesterday by Cpl Mark Ward, 27, of the Mercian Regiment, who was awarded the Military Cross for showing "inspirational leadership" as a section commander during three encounters with the Taliban in Afghanistan last year.

For his actions, Cpl Ward was also in the unique honour of presenting the FA Cup to Manchester City.

Almost two years to the day since a moving train severed Arunima Sinha’s left leg just below the knee, the 26-year-old Indian arrived at Everest base camp ready to climb the world’s highest mountain. On Tuesday 21 May 2013 morning just before 11 o’clock she became the first female amputee to reach the summit.

Ms. Sinha, who has a prosthetic leg, took nearly 17 hours to scale the mountain after spending about two months acclimatizing and going on treks in northern India and Nepal. “She was definitely slow because of her physical condition. But her mental strength and stamina was extraordinary,” said Dawa Sherpa, the general manager at Asian Trekking, a Nepal-based company that organized her expedition.

visually impaired girl, Shrishti Tiwari, from Damoh town has topped the Madhya Pradesh Higher Secondary examination in Arts stream. For Shrishti, a student of JBP Government Higher Secondary School in Damoh, the achievement is special not only academically but also because of the fact that she is visually impaired since birth. She scored 481 out of 500 marks to emerge as the topper in Arts stream.

Shrishti’s grandparents and uncle helped her a lot in mastering the subjects, her family said. While her parents stay in Bhopal because of job compulsions, Shrishti's maternal uncle Sanjay Gangele prepared notes for her. Her maternal grandparents Virendra and Pushpa Gangele read out the notes to her, they said.

Shiva, 23, a computer science student of Bangalore Institute of Technology, is the son of an illiterate mother and a father who was a truck driver. He started working as a newspaper delivery boy and for his debt-ridden family of four. Speaking about his struggles to TOI, Shiva says, "Every morning people would come home asking my father to return the money he had borrowed. My father had a truck. But there were more liabilities than what he could earn with it. When I was in Class 3 or 4, I sold flowers that my mother strung into garlands by the roadside."

Govind

My father used to work as a laborer, but he passed away when I was young. My mother worked in the fields to support our family. My family's living conditions were very tough. I couldn't go to school and was forced to work instead. I worked as a rickshaw puller to help my mother. I had no formal education, but I had a strong will to learn and wanted to improve my life.

"I decided to go for the exam because this is a government job where you don't need money or approach to get in, and I had neither... after the police called to house my father now they do 10th,"

Lord Shiva veritably presided over the world’s largest experiment as scientists today sent the first beam of protons zooming at nearly the speed of light around the world’s most powerful particle accelerator at the CERN laboratory near Geneva in search of the 'God particle'.

Next to the 2m statue of the dancing Shiva or Nataraj at the European Center for Research in Particle Physics in Geneva is a plaque that explains the connection: "It is the clearest image of the activity of God which any art or religion can boast of" ...

"Hundreds of years ago, Indian artists created visual images of dancing Shivas in a beautiful series of bronzes. In our time, physicists have used the most advanced technology to portray the patterns of the cosmic dance.

The metaphor of the cosmic dance thus unifies ancient mythology, religious art and modern physics."

READER'S DIGEST – Honest Cities
(August 2007 issue)

Reporters from READER'S DIGEST left 30 mid-priced mobile phones in public places in Mumbai and then watched how people reacted, as part of a unique survey. The survey in the world's 32 most populous cities saw Mumbai finishing fifth along with Manila and New York. In Mumbai, home to a very large number of poor, finders returned 24 of the 30 telephones.

Slovenia's capital Ljubljana topped the list, returning 29 of the 30 'lost' telephones.

Toronto came at the second spot with 28 telephones, followed by Seoul (27), Stockholm (26), Mumbai, Manila, New York (24).

The telephone recovery in some of the wealthiest cities was poor. Sydney as well as London (19).

all the seven women who found Reader's Digest phones in Mumbai returned them.

Indians in 10,000 years,

1. have never colonized any country
2. have never looted, plundered and enslaved any country economically,
3. have never condemned other religions as false religions and converted them to Hinduism
4. have never destroyed temples of other religions
5. have never called people from other religions as Sinners and condemned them to eternal hell.
6. have never crucified or burnt alive any one whose ideas have been different from their own.
